Method and Apparatus Maintaining Eye Contact in Video Delivery Systems Using View Morphing

Abstract

A view morphing algorithm is applied to synchronous collections of video images from at least two video imaging devices, and interpolating between the images, creates a composite image view of the local participant. This composite image approximates what might be seen from a point between the video imaging devices, presenting the image to other video session participants.

1